Syncing Calendars with Alexa

We need to talk about Alexa...

She's been acting strangely.

If you own an Echo Hub, you might know that you can sync three popular calendars with the Alexa App. This lets you ask Alexa what's in your calendars, edit, delete or add new appointments.

Your partner, friends, kids, even your plumber can also hear, edit, delete, or add!

Anyone can talk to Alexa. She doesn't recognise voices.

So, that's not very secure...

Now that's another breach of confidentiality if ever I saw one, although you can PIN lock voice purchases.

Sadly, you can't PIN lock Alexa.

So the fix? Don't sync Alexa with your calendar.

Kind of sad, really...
